MEMORANDUM FOR: CCB

ATTENTION :

SUBJECT : Proprietary Project ANALYTIC

REMARK : Revised Administrative Plan for the Proprietary
Agents of the Division of Project ANALYTIC

1. The above referenced administrative plan provides for cover arrangements that would emphasize the reliance of the cover organization (Prolog Associates) on the financial support of the Ukrainian emigres throughout the free world.

2. For this purpose, it would be necessary to create a cover organization that would represent a logical source of financial support for the Project.

3. Prolog Associates is an organization engaged in research and publication of newspapers, books, magazines, and articles in Ukrainian, English, and other foreign languages, such as Spanish, French and Italian. Prolog Associates are sponsoring activities devoted to the development of friendly relations between the nations and the people of the free world, and it is in this capacity that the cover of the organization will then be put to its most severe and difficult test.

4. Until the formation of the new cover arrangement, the funding of the Project will be continued through the facilities available to the Finance Division in New York and arranged in connection with the Administrative Plan set up by the Comptroller's Office as of March 1 of this year.

5. It is suggested that perhaps the most desirable form of the cover arrangement would be an association of individuals that would form a committee for the purpose that is compatible with the activities of the Prolog Associates.

6. Any further details or information necessary for the completion and implementation of the cover arrangements should be referred to
C extension 2848.

The new administrative plan, establishing AERODYNAMIC Project as a proprietary Project, introduces a new system of financial and administrative controls centered in Prolog Associates. The new administrative plan enhances the possibilities of the Ukrainian group to use a cover of an independent research organization sponsored by the wide circle of the Ukrainian emigration. This provides for greater flexibility and greater effectiveness in achieving the objectives assigned to them by the Agency.

The organization of funding, the legal status of the organization in Germany, the accounting for the expenses and the operational guidance and direction according to the new administrative plan will require understanding and agreement between the Hq ~~and~~ in New York and the Field Representatives in Germany.
